

Gateway's history

An internationally recognized authority in the chemical dependency field, Dr. Abraham J. Twerski along with the Sisters of St. Francis, first established Gateway Rehabilitation Center as a 28-day alcohol and drug dependence treatment center. Today, the not-for-profit organization, which started as a single site in 1972 treating roughly 1,200 patients a year, has grown to encompass various levels of care, and multiple locations such as Squirrel Hill, that together treat approximately 1,700 patients a day.

GATEWAY'S mission

Gateway's mission is to help all affected by addictive diseases to be healthy in body, mind, and spirit.

adult & adolescent services

Gateway Squirrel Hill offers the following treatment services for adults and adolescents:

A part of the Gateway Rehabilitation Center's system of services, Gateway Squirrel Hill provides high quality, comprehensive, outpatient treatment services that empower individuals who are struggling with addiction to alcohol and/or other drugs to restore and transform their lives.

PARTIAL HOSPITALIZATION TREATMENT is provided five days a week for adults and three days a week for adolescents, up to six hours per day, and consists of group and individual therapy and weekly family group counseling.

OUTPATIENT COUNSELING

is offered as a follow-up to intensive treatment. Outpatient counseling is appropriate for individuals and their spouses and families who need help with problems associated with chemical dependency.

INTENSIVE OUTPATIENT TREATMENT

enables adult and adolescent patients to continue working or going to school while receiving care for their chemical dependency problems. Treatment is provided in three-hour sessions, three times a week.

THE DRUG, ALCOHOL, & TOBACCO AWARENESS PROGRAM (D.A.T.A.)

is designed as an educational intervention for adolescents and young adults who are considered to be in the early stages of alcohol and/or other drug abuse. The program's goal is to provide education and raise awareness about the nature of adolescent drug use and its associated risks.

CONTINUING CARE GROUPS

provide support, guidance, and education to patients while helping smooth the transition from treatment to home, work, and community.
